SEWBU

(Social Emotional Well Being Unit)

Health does not only signify the physical well being but includes social, emotional, spiritual and cultural well being of yourself, your family and the whole community in which we reside. This is what we perceive and acknowledge as Indigenous people.

As an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Health Service we strive to promote, provide and accomplish healthy services to our community.

The SEWBU was established to provide intensive support through early intervention services to ensure the wellbeing of children and families.

Our focus is to strengthen families to raise healthy and resilient infants, children and young people through the delivery of culturally appropriate programs, support groups and training.
